Before you enter the online brand atmosphere, you need to be aware of your brand identity® identity driven brand building®

This has been the strength of Brandhome since people were using dial-up connections.

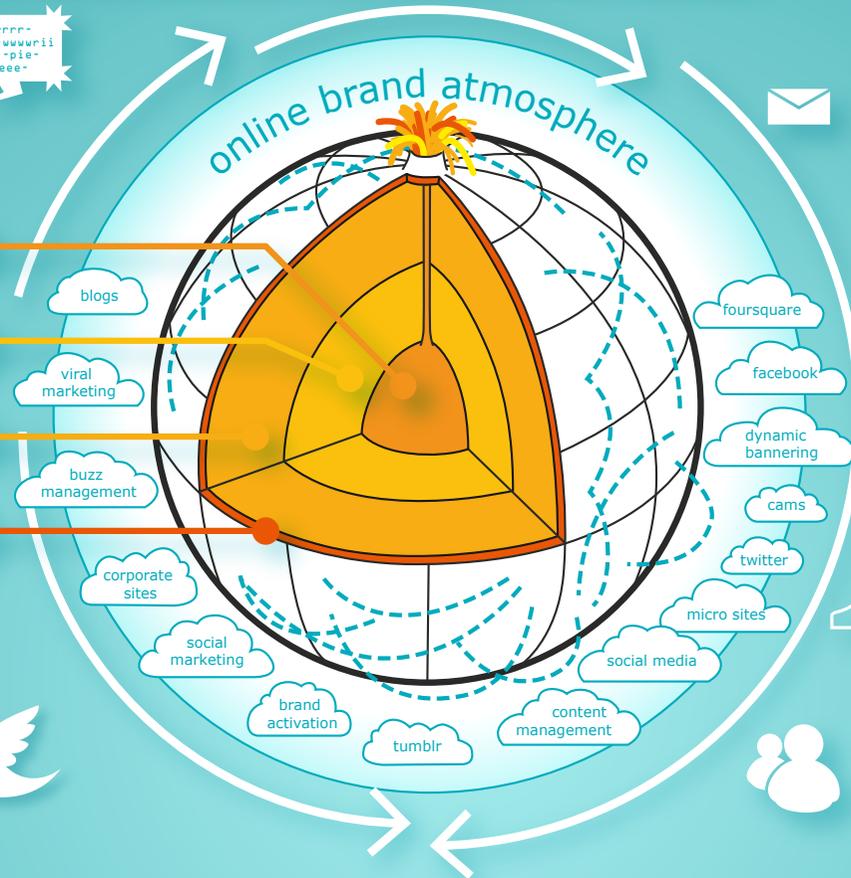

Core brand identity determines the life of your brand inside the online atmosphere.

Here's a little secret about online branding. When your local social media guru talks about 'interaction is key', he's not just talking about interacting with consumers.

Every aspect of your brand and its communication and marketing is directly or indirectly connected. That's why the agency of the future needs to be able to connect every level of implementation, whether it be in-house or in a network of preferred partners.

The Brandhome method®, originally developed for brand building, has evolved towards a way to do just that: a method to connect all brand elements with each other and with all possible stakeholders.

- identity-based branding
- identity-based strategy
- identity-based concept and creation
- identity-based design & production please stand up and form my brandscape brandscape theory

brands are fighting for a piece of consumers' attention consumers have 100% attention to share be part of that 100%

brandscape definition

the brandscape is the totality of brands across the sum of all categories carried in a consumer's mind

brandscape definition

1. active brandscape

the landscape of all brands the consumer is aware of

2. passive brandscape

that are relevant and have the potential to move into the consumers' consideration set brandscape example

identity driven brand building®

brandscape

identity driven brand building®

the brandscape places brands in relationships with one another the brandscape tells you who, what, why:

- who your customers like more than you
- who your customers like less than you
- who gets more attention than you
- who gets less attention than you
- what your customers' daily/weekly/monthly/yearly brand journey is
- why and how they do it

identity driven brand building® in a world dominated by brands brandscaping tells you who your customers really are,

with whom and how,
you should work together the brandscape is a mediated social structure where consumers perform brand-building labour

(!) NB numbers should be put in (market size, database regression, market penetration...)

tips to take home first decide if your dare to change if so,

1. look left, look right, look for partners; you can start after this presentation
2. in the office, call in your marketing people ask them to figure out your customers' brandscape(s), and put numbers behind
3. create winning marketing partnerships that get you through the back door
